Headline:
Cloudy with any patchy rain clearing, a sharp frost overnight.

Today:
Low cloud and patchy drizzle this morning. Cloud lifting and breaking to leave a dry and brighter afternoon with light winds. Temperatures lower than Tuesday, but still feeling warm in the afternoon sunshine that develops. Maximum temperature 14 deg C (57 deg F).

Tonight:
Becoming clear with winds remaining light into the evening and overnight. Temperatures plummet leading to a harsh frost, most severe in the east and north. Minimum temperature -3 deg C (27 deg F).

Thursday:
Staying fine and dry throughout the day. Feeling quite warm with light winds as temperatures recover in the strong sunshine. A chance for another frost overnight, but less severe. Maximum temperature 14 deg C (57 deg F).

Outlook for Friday to Sunday:
Remaining largely dry throughout and rather warm during the daytime, but risk of frost remains overnight under clear skies. Sunny and fine Friday. Turning hazy Saturday, and slightly cooler Sunday.
